Directors' Report

Introduction

Janus Henderson Fund (the Company) is an investment company incorporated under the laws of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg in the form of a société anonyme, organised as a Société d'Investissement à Capital Variable (SICAV) with different funds (that is, an 'umbrella fund') and qualifying as a UCITS (Undertakings for Collective Investment in Transferable Securities).

The Company aims to provide a choice of funds investing in a range of securities, bonds and money market instruments. Each fund is treated as an independent entity, with its own portfolio of investments, objective and investment policy.

Shareholders of each fund are entitled only to the wealth and yield of the fund to which they have subscribed. Each fund bears the appropriate amount of liabilities attributable to it and the commitments entered into in the name of one fund are covered solely by the assets of that fund. The Company will not be liable as a whole to third parties. Separate accounts and records are maintained for each fund.

Financial Statements

The Board of Directors of the Company (the 'Board') presents its report and the interim financial statements for the period ended 31 March 2019.

A copy of the latest annual and interim reports may be obtained upon request from either the offices of the companies registered as distributors or from the Registered Office of the Company and at www.janushenderson.com.

The Net Assets at 31 March 2019 amounted to EUR 7.01 billion.

At the period end, the Company consisted of 8 active funds.

Fund Changes

- Details of share class launches and closures can be found in Note 1

The Directors may from time to time close or merge funds as well as add further funds with different investment objectives, subject to the approval of the Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier ('CSSF'). Notifications will be provided to shareholders on closure and merger of funds, which are also subject to review by the CSSF.

Brexit update

Janus Henderson Investors has a well-established project underway looking at all possible Brexit impacts including distribution, regulatory permissions and licenses, HR, IT and operations. Janus Henderson Investors is seeking to minimise the potential impact on investors, and like all firms, is operating in an environment that is uncertain and subject to change. Janus Henderson Investors are proud of our long history in both the UK and continental Europe, and are in a strong position to continue to serve our investors after the UK leaves the European Union.

Corporate Governance Statement

The Board adheres to the Association of the Luxembourg Fund Industry ('ALFI') code of conduct for Luxembourg investment funds. The code of conduct sets a framework of high-level principles and best practice recommendations for the governance of Luxembourg investment funds.

On behalf of the Janus Henderson Fund Board, I would like to thank you for your continued support.

Market review for the period 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019

Unless specified otherwise, returns are in local currency total return terms.

Global equity markets fell by 2.4% during the six months under review in US Dollar terms, as measured by the MSCI World US$ Total Return Index, affected by global sell-offs, a plummeting oil price and trade tensions between the US and China.

European equities fell over the period (FTSE World Europe ex UK -0.8% in Euro terms). Italy's budgetary challenges, as well as aggressive trade rhetoric from the US president, inspired worry in European markets and took a toll on the Euro. After experiencing a contraction in GDP growth in the third quarter of 2018, Germany avoided recession when fourth-quarter growth was neutral at 0%. Italy was unable to avoid that fate, however, after registering a 0.2% contraction in the fourth quarter after a 0.1% drop in the third. Broadly speaking, Eurozone annualised GDP growth was lacklustre in the fourth quarter (it was downwardly revised to 1.1%). As such, the European Central Bank (ECB) proceeded with caution, lowering its expectations for 2019 economic expansion to 1.1% from a previously stated 1.7%. The ECB also announced a new programme by which it will lend inexpensively to banks (who will therefore be able to offer better rates to their customers) with the aim of helping to stimulate the economy mere months after ending its bond-buying scheme.

In the UK, the FTSE All-Share Index decreased by 1.8% in Sterling terms, falling steadily in the fourth quarter of 2018 before picking up in the new year. After surviving a vote of no confidence in December, UK Prime Minister Theresa May saw her proposed Brexit withdrawal deal fail to be approved by Parliament multiple times. In the event of Brexit, the 29 March separation date came and went as EU representatives granted May an additional fortnight to gather support for her deal. Given the lingering uncertainty, the Bank of England (BoE) elected to keep interest rates on hold at its March meeting, noting that more clarity on Brexit is necessary before any guidance on rate rises can be given. The bank did insinuate, however, that rates could move in either direction once a clearer picture of the economy is achieved. In February, the BoE slashed its 2019 growth expectations to 1.2% from 1.7%. This came after it was revealed that fourth quarter 2018 GDP had fallen from 0.7% to 0.2% quarter-over-quarter.

US equities also fell (S&P 500 Index -1.7% in US Dollar terms). In October, a major sell-off in the technology and communications services sector brought markets lower in the US and abroad, as did increasingly aggressive trade rhetoric between the Trump administration and its Chinese counterpart. A government shutdown near the Christmas holidays exacerbated losses. More conciliatory trade relations with China helped to boost investor sentiment; in February, President Trump announced the postponement of additional tariffs due to be enacted in early March, citing 'substantial progress' being made between the two countries. Fourth-quarter annualised GDP growth was positive, at 2.2%, but below the previous estimate of 2.6% and 3.4% in the preceding quarter. The Federal Reserve (Fed) raised interest rates in December but turned dovish in early 2019, keeping interest rates on hold at 2.25-2.5% and implying that they will do so throughout the calendar year.

The FTSE World Japan Index fell 10.9% in Yen terms. Japan was not exempt from trade-war worries, particularly after Donald Trump turned his attentions to Japan in the days just prior to the start of the review period, raising the possibility of high tariffs on automobile exports to the US. Quarterly GDP expansion in Japan plummeted from +0.5% in the second quarter to -0.6% in the third as consumer spending slowed, partly as a result of natural disasters. However, that figure rose in the final quarter of the calendar year. The Japanese Yen weakened against the US Dollar from the start of the year, which provided a boon to exporters. This helped Japan's balance of trade recover from a massive deficit of ¥1.42 trillion in January, the widest gap seen in close to five years. The following month, a ¥339 billion surplus was recorded. Still, the Bank of Japan warned of rising global challenges at its meeting in March, and kept interest rates at their historically low levels. Earlier in the quarter, the bank had lowered 2019 inflation expectations to a range of 1.0–1.3% from 1.5–1.7%.

Asian equities were up (MSCI AC Asia Pacific ex Japan +1.6% in US Dollar terms) despite volatility from trade disputes and slowing growth in China. In October, Asian stocks fell in tandem with major sell-offs on Wall Street, but equities pulled up as the new year began. The market rallied along with its global peers as China and the US made what President Trump called 'substantial progress' in their trade talks. Trade-tariff increases due to commence on 1 March were postponed. Economic expansion, however, remained slow, with annualised GDP growth at only 6.4% in the fourth quarter of 2018 – the lowest level since the global financial crisis over a decade ago. Elsewhere, South Korea saw stocks plummet on global worries and a mass exodus of foreign investors; the benchmark KOSPI marked its biggest monthly decline in a decade in October. The market rebounded in January on supportive global developments such as a dovish Fed and improving US-China relations, but a dent in the progress made between the US and North Korea caused another dip in March. Australian markets experienced a promising start to 2019, hitting six-month highs in March as mining stocks were supported by the expectations that Chinese policymakers will enact new stimulus measures in the near future.

Emerging markets rose 1.8% in local currency terms, as shown by the MSCI Emerging Markets US$ Index, boosted by accommodative monetary policy in the US and improving relations between the US and China. Brazilians headed to the polls in October only to follow the recent trend of electing a populist candidate in Jair Bolsonaro. The country's Bovespa index was the best-performing emerging market in the period, surging to an all-time high in early December. However, Brazilian equities fell dramatically at the end of the period. Elsewhere, the Russian central bank surprised market participants by raising interest rates to 7.75%. In Asia, India and Pakistan became embroiled in conflict at the Kashmir border, but surprisingly, the former saw strength in its domestic stock market. Inflation in India continued to disappoint, however, and in February, the central bank slashed the benchmark interest rate by 25 basis points, to 6.25%. Similarly, China saw stocks soar in the first quarter of 2019, but economic growth remained muted. Elsewhere, Turkey officially fell into recession.

Government bond yields fell in the US, UK and Germany (prices move inversely to yields), with all three regions registering a noticeable increase in bond prices in the last week of the review period. This came after the Fed signalled that it would not raise rates in 2019, and coincided with another parliamentary vote against Prime Minister May's proposed Brexit plan. In the US, investors were spooked by the inversion of the US Treasury yield curve, traditionally one of the first signs that an economy could be headed for recession. Corporate bond markets rose over the period according to the IBOXX Euro Corporates All Maturities Index. UK telecom Vodafone made history by raising £3.4 billion in the largest ever sterling convertible bond sale.

The US Dollar strengthened against Sterling and the Euro over the review period. However, gains against the British pound were slight, particularly as the dollar fell in March upon the Federal Reserve's announcement that it does not expect to raise interest rates in 2019. For its part, the pound was unexpectedly strong in the face of Brexit, reaching 21-month highs against the Euro in February on the announcement that Prime Minister May would seek a parliamentary vote to delay Brexit. The Euro was depressed by sluggish economic data in the Eurozone, including the threat of recession in both Germany and Italy.

Janus Henderson Fund Continental European Fund

Investment report for the period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019

Investment Fund Manager

John Bennett

The fund fell 2.4% over the period under review based on Class R€ accumulation compared with the MSCI Europe (ex UK) Index benchmark return which fell 0.7%.

Global equity markets ended 2018 with their worst December performance since 1931. A US Federal Reserve (Fed) on autopilot with regard to balance sheet reduction still – and in our view unexpectedly – surprised markets negatively and several indices briefly entered a bear market (technically defined as 20% fall from the previous peak), although they had recovered by the close of the trading sessions concerned. The traditional year-end rally was very limited, followed by a more powerful January rally off the Christmas lows.

In our view, it is possible that the correction will remain just that – a correction, limited in both time and extent. Investor positioning is still light, in particular in Europe which has seen the longest period of persistent investor fund outflows in over a decade. Policy remains very supportive, too. While we are as sceptical as ever about overenthusiastic reactions to interventions by central banks, some of the pessimism on the macroeconomic data that has now become quite consensual may need to be questioned. Since many of Europe's economic problems last year were 'made in China', upwards-inflecting Chinese credit growth and survey data may well lead to improving European earnings estimates.

During the period under review we continued to rely less on sector themes and more on individual stock ideas in the construction of our portfolios. Perhaps the only 'theme' we have implemented in 2019 is a further reduction in our holdings in banks, a decision which has served investors well as the sector continues to suffer under manifold pressures ranging from the shape of yield curves to new nemeses such as money laundering charges. The latter has the potential to spread through an industry arguably unrivalled in its accident-prone nature.

Our top performer at a stock level was international brewer Carlsberg as the company released another set of solid results, demonstrating strong organic sales growth in its latest quarter. We have been impressed by Carlsberg's management team since its appointment in 2015/16 and the position remains among our biggest holdings. The fund also benefited from its holdings in pharmaceutical names Merck and Roche.

Galp Energia, our largest position in the energy sector, lagged as it suffered slightly disappointing third-quarter volumes. We continue to like the company's future growth profile and it remains a key holding. Performance was also adversely affected by tyre specialist Nokian Renkaat which cut its outlook on the back of lower third-quarter volumes and we have since reduced our position. As part of an ongoing reduction to the autos sector we also trimmed our position in Autoliv on the recent share price rebound.

Key activity during the quarter included the introduction of Swedish telecommunications equipment maker Ericsson. This followed a meeting with the new management team. We also started a position in Finnish oil refiner Neste, a company which has achieved global dominance in renewable diesel thanks to its advanced technology and global sourcing capacity. We used price weakness to establish a position in Rheinmetall, where we identify strong prospects for the defence division as well as an undervalued auto components business. Finally, we added Grifols, a leading manufacturer of blood plasma-derived therapies as the underlying volume and pricing environment remains strong.

As indicated above, we further reduced our position in banks as we sold our positions in ABN Amro, ING, Intesa Sanpaolo, KBC and Svenska Handelsbanken 'A'. We disposed of our holding in information technology stock United Internet, reflecting our concerns around the competitive landscape changes in the German mobile market. Other disposals included Michelin and E.ON where we consider the outlook to be disappointing, returning to our familiar ground of zero utilities holdings.

Disposals should be seen in the context of our deliberate move to a more concentrated portfolio. This, in turn, reflects increased conviction at the stock specific level, as well as our desire to offer investors a differentiated, yet more active proposition.

Macroeconomic data has improved in recent weeks, in particular in Europe and China. The turn-around in global money creation is still nascent, but if it were to gather strength as indicated by the dovish communications of all major central banks it would further support the 2019 recovery after the 2018 growth scare. In such an environment, we would expect equity markets to rise. European markets in particular should rally given very light investor positioning.

Please note with effect from 30 January 2019, Andrew McCarthy no longer manages this fund.

Janus Henderson Fund Emerging Markets Fund

Investment report for the period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019

Investment Fund Managers

Glen Finegan and Nicholas Cowley

The fund returned 2.7% over the period under review based on Class R€ accumulation compared with the MSCI Emerging Markets Index benchmark return of 5.2%.

The underperformance during this period was predominantly related to our lack of exposure to the information technology sector (including Chinese internet names such as Alibaba and Tencent) particularly during the second half of this period.

The strongest contribution to the positive return was from holding Newcrest Mining. This was driven by strong operational performance at its mines, most notably Lihir in Papua New Guinea. The improved volume of ore mined and higher recovery rates led to strong cost leverage and cash-flow production. The stock price has also been supported by an improvement in the underlying gold price during the period. This commodity is seen as providing a store of value during times of increased risk aversion.

Heineken was also a significant contributor to returns during the period. The company reported strong full-year 2018 results and forecast continued strong organic volume growth. The core Heineken brand saw annual volume growth of close to 8%, its best volume performance in over a decade. Net revenue growth was strongest in its Africa, Middle East and Eastern Europe region which we believe is positive for the long-term health of the franchise.

Remgro, Shoprite and Pepkor were significant detractors to returns during the period. This is less related to any specific company event or news but rather the continued impact of a weak South African economy on these businesses. We believe that these businesses have strong balance sheets, capable management teams and are well positioned to benefit from a reduction in the economic headwinds over time.

A recent investment trip to South Africa highlighted the significant opportunity for those willing to be patient. Near-term commentary from retailers and businesses was almost universally cautious, and it would appear that the economy is stumbling at a 1%-2% annual GDP growth rate. South Africa's economy is still weathering the after effects of nine-year presidency of Jacob Zuma. We believe that the obstacles to growth that the country has been facing could abate and many good quality African businesses return to growth, which is not currently reflected in valuations. While the pace of change of economic reform within South Africa may not help the economy in the near term, there are some very interesting developments.

The announcement by President Cyril Rhamaphosa to split Eskom, the state electric utility company, into three separate entities is a potential watershed moment. In our view, Eskom exemplifies all that went wrong with South Africa under the Zuma administration. A decade of corruption and mismanagement led to utility companies' debts rising tenfold since 2007 and the sector's ability to produce consistent electricity for distribution diminishing, leading to sweeping black-outs. The decision to split the company into generation, transmission and distribution units should allow foreign capital to restore its health. It also shows that Rhamaphosa is willing to use his political capital to enforce change on a state company that employs 54,000 people. This policy is unlikely to be popular, but it is necessary for the long-term health of the country. Elections to be held shortly may provide an opportunity for President Rhamaphosa to receive a national mandate for change.

There has been no noticeable change in our investment outlook over the past quarter. We still view the valuations and growth expectations for many good quality Asian companies as being too high. At the end of 2018, it looked as though there was the potential for valuations to become attractive. Equity prices for a lot of good quality companies that are on our watch list had moved from 'very expensive' to just 'expensive' or 'fairly valued'. Our lack of significant buying activity during this period is a sign that a number of Asian companies that we admire still sport valuations that do not meet our long-term potential return requirements.

Appetite for risk and enthusiasm for the emerging market asset class has increased over the recent period. We are mindful that there are a number of fault lines opening up across the region, and more broadly globally, and that liquidity alone cannot solve these issues. Speculative impulses also appear to be running high. The current global appetite for loss making Chinese unicorns (companies valued at $1bn or more) in both local and international markets reminds us that at times it is wise to be cautious.

We are mindful of the need to stick to our belief not to compromise on quality, to maintain a long-term approach and to apply a strict valuation discipline. With a long-term perspective we remain positive about the opportunities for equity investors created by the structural trend of rising living standards in some parts of the developing world.

Janus Henderson Fund Global Equity Fund

Investment report for the period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019

Investment Fund Managers

Ian Warmerdam and Ronan Kelleher

The fund fell 0.3% over the period under review based on Class R€ accumulation compared with the MSCI All Countries World Index benchmark return of 1.2%.

From a sector perspective, the fund's holdings in the information technology sector were among the most significant detractors, with the sector seeing some aggressive profit taking in the fourth quarter of 2018. A notable positive, however, was stock selection in the financials sector.

American Tower, a leading global owner of communications tower infrastructure, was among the fund's most significant positive contributors over the period. The secular growth of mobile data usage underpins demand for communications towers, while their importance is being strengthened by innovation in technology application as people add connectivity to their cars and purchase more smart devices. American Tower are very economical as they require little maintenance capital expenditure, are highly cash generative and can generate a return on investment of over 20% with just three tenants. The company has a proven management team with CEO Jim Taiclet having led the company since 2004 and successfully overseen an expansion outside of the US. It has the potential to expand further into emerging markets where infrastructure is less developed.

Indian financial services conglomerate Housing Development Finance (HDFC) also contributed positively. HDFC's origins are in housing finance but it has expanded to provide life insurance, asset management and traditional banking services. HDFC has achieved growth over time by taking a long-term, disciplined approach. Its state-owned peers are more capital-constrained and face a variety of asset quality issues. Financial services penetration levels are still relatively low in India and HDFC is well placed to benefit from increasing demand for consumer credit, insurance and other services.

There has been weakness in video games companies' share prices recently and Activision Blizzard was among our detractors. The company itself suffered from negative news flow over the period: first, it ended its relationship with Destiny developer Bungie and then in February, Electronic Arts (in which we also have a position) released its free-to-play 'battle royale' game Apex Legends, which saw the share prices of the other major gaming companies decline. The rise of free-to-play games such as Fortnite and PUBG presents challenges to the gaming industry and has caused sharper fluctuations in the share prices of gaming companies. However, we continue to be attracted to the strength of Activision Blizzard's franchise with titles such as Call of Duty having inspired significant player loyalty over many years. While free-to-play is a trend within the industry, there is also demand for higher quality from developers, something which requires deep pockets thereby favouring companies with the scale of Activision Blizzard. With their competitive advantage remaining intact, we continue to think Activision Blizzard is well positioned moving forward.

Apple also detracted with markets reacting negatively to company results over the period. The fund's investment in Apple has never focused on individual product releases and the success thereof; rather our ownership of Apple has been rooted in the strength of its brand and the consequential 'stickiness' of its user base. However, we do have concerns about the maturation of the smart phone market, cheaper offerings from competitors as well as lengthening upgrade cycles. While we still view the valuation as attractive and are encouraged by growth in Apple's services business, we reduced the size of our position.

In November the fund initiated a position in InterContinental Hotels Group (IHG) which operates hotels across the world. IHG has historically been very cash generative and has high, and expanding, margins. With its strong brands including Intercontinental, Holiday Inn and Crowne Plaza, we believe IHG is well positioned to benefit from increasing hotel room demand driven by demographics, increasing incomes and economic growth. Other positions initiated included PayPal and Unilever.

We sold our position in CVS Health over the period. The company is going through a major and challenging corporate transformation as it acquires insurance company Aetna. Our conviction in the company declined with its return potential looking less attractive. We also sold positions in Cognex and Valeo.

As ever, our strategy is to avoid making major macroeconomic calls, and instead to focus bottom-up on finding companies with underappreciated growth and high barriers to entry at attractive valuations. Through purchasing undervalued securities that are exposed to strong secular tailwinds of growth, we aim to generate attractive returns over the longer term.

Janus Henderson Fund Latin American Fund

Investment report for the period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019

Investment Fund Managers

Glen Finegan and Nicholas Cowley

The fund returned 11.1% during the period under review based on Class R€ accumulation compared with the MSCI EM Latin America Index return of 12.0%.

Colombia and Mexico were the strongest markets, while Chile and Peru were the notable laggards.

Interest in Latin American equities increased through the period, driven predominantly by market enthusiasm for the newly elected Brazilian president, Jair Bolsonaro, who is considered to be more business friendly than previous leaders. He pledged to reduce Brazil's primary budget deficit – the fiscal gap before interest payments – that is regarded as one of the most pressing problems with public finances in the country. Mr Bolsonaro's victory marked the first time a far-right candidate has won Brazil's elections since the military dictatorship of more than three decades ago. The vote was also seen to be a referendum on Brazil's corrupt political establishment, particularly the Workers' Party, which presided over the country's worst recession in history and its biggest corruption scandal during its four terms in power.

Our holdings in Banco Bradesco and Duratex were the two largest positive contributors to returns. This was not related to any specific company news but rather to the removal of the uncertainty around the outcome of the Brazilian presidential election. The valuation of both companies appeared to be quite reasonable. The fund benefited on a relative basis from not holding Vale, a Brazilian mining company, which is a global leader in iron ore production. Almost $18bn was knocked off the market capitalisation of Vale in January as investors reacted to the deadly dam burst in Minas Gerais that killed over 300 people and left hundreds more missing. Vale is not a stock held by the Janus Henderson Global Emerging Markets team predominantly because of issues surrounding both its visible and invisible alignment with the Brazilian government.

We bought a new position in Raia Drogasil, a family-owned operator of the largest national chain of drugstores in Brazil. There is still significant opportunity for the business to grow and take market share, as it currently has only 2% of the store base. Healthcare spending should continue to rise in Brazil as the population and economy matures. Near-term financial results have been challenged as a result of weak consumer confidence and a shift to lower priced generics, which has impacted margins. This has brought the stock price to an attractive level, which we believe doesn't account for the ability to double the store count and improve the return on invested capital over time as the store base matures.

We have a slightly less sanguine view with regards to the opportunity in Brazilian equities following the rally in the local market after the election. Valuations appear fair, particularly given the inevitable social challenges that will accompany the new president's liberal economic agenda. We continue to take a long-term view to allocating capital and believe that there are a number of attractive investment opportunities in the region.

Janus Henderson Fund Pan European Fund

Investment report for the period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019

Investment Fund Manager

John Bennett

The fund fell 2.5% over the period under review based on Class R€ accumulation compared with the MSCI Europe Index which returned 0.1%.

Global equity markets ended 2018 with their worst December performance since 1931. A US Federal Reserve (Fed) on autopilot with regard to balance sheet reduction still – and in our view unexpectedly – surprised markets negatively and several indices briefly entered a bear market (technically defined as 20% fall from the previous peak), although they had recovered by the close of the trading sessions concerned. The traditional year-end rally was very limited, followed by a more powerful January rally off the Christmas lows.

In our view, it is possible that the correction will remain just that – a correction, limited in both time and extent. Investor positioning is still light, in particular in Europe which has seen the longest period of persistent investor fund outflows in over a decade. Policy remains very supportive, too. While we are as sceptical as ever about overenthusiastic reactions to interventions by central banks, some of the pessimism on the macroeconomic data that has now become quite consensual may need to be questioned. Since many of Europe's economic problems last year were 'made in China', upwards-inflecting Chinese credit growth and survey data may well lead to improving European earnings estimates.

During the period under review, we continued to rely less on sector themes and more on individual stock ideas in the construction of our portfolios. Perhaps the only 'theme' we have implemented in 2019 is a further reduction in our holdings in banks, a decision which has served investors well as the sector continues to suffer under manifold pressures ranging from the shape of yield curves to new nemeses such as money laundering charges. The latter has the potential to spread through an industry arguably unrivalled in its accident-prone nature.

Our top performer at a stock level was international brewer Carlsberg as the company released another set of solid results, demonstrating strong organic sales growth in its latest quarter. We have been impressed by Carlsberg's management team since its appointment in 2015/16 and the position remains among our biggest holdings. The fund also benefited from its holdings in pharmaceutical names Merck and Roche.

Performance was adversely affected by tyre specialist Nokian Renkaat, which cut its outlook on the back of lower third-quarter volumes and we have since reduced our position. As part of an ongoing reduction to the autos sector we also trimmed our position in Autoliv on the recent share price rebound. Galp Energia, our largest position in the energy sector, lagged as it suffered slightly disappointing third-quarter volumes. We continue to like the company's future growth profile and it remains a key holding.

Key activity during the quarter included the introduction of Dometic, a Swedish manufacturer of equipment fitted to recreational vehicles and boats. We expect the company to respond well to new management. We also initiated a position in Swedish telecommunications equipment maker Ericsson. This followed a meeting with the new management team. We introduced SBM Offshore following an upbeat meeting with management which reported strong pipeline opportunities and, while it remains difficult to predict order flow, we believe that the chances of order conversion within the next year remain high. We used price weakness to establish a position in Rheinmetall, where we identify strong prospects for the defence division as well as an undervalued auto components business. Finally, we added Grifols, a leading manufacturer of blood plasma-derived therapies as the underlying volume and pricing environment remains strong.

As indicated above, we further reduced our position in banks as we sold our positions in ABN AMRO, KBC, Lloyds Banking and Svenska Handelsbanken 'A'. We disposed of our holding in information technology stock United Internet, reflecting our concerns around the competitive landscape changes in the German mobile market. We booked profit on our holding in Tesco and sold Ryanair on poor profits guidance. Other disposals included Michelin and E.ON, where we consider the outlook to be disappointing, returning to our familiar ground of zero utilities holdings.

Disposals should be seen in the context of our deliberate move to a more concentrated portfolio. This, in turn, reflects increased conviction at the stock specific level, as well as our desire to offer investors a differentiated, yet more active proposition.

Macroeconomic data has improved in recent weeks, in particular in Europe and China. The turn-around in global money creation is still nascent, but if it were to gather strength as indicated by the dovish communications of all major central banks it would further support the 2019 recovery after the 2018 growth scare. In such an environment, we would expect equity markets to rise. European markets in particular should rally given very light investor positioning.

Please note with effect from 30 January 2019, Andrew McCarthy no longer manages this fund.

Janus Henderson Fund Pan European Smaller Companies Fund

Investment report for the period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019

Investment Fund Managers

Ollie Beckett and Rory Stokes

The fund fell 5.0% over the period under review based on Class R€ accumulation compared with the Euromoney Smaller European Companies Index which fell 4.3%.

The six months to 31 March 2019 were split into two very distinct periods. The first three months saw high levels of volatility across all major assets classes. This was largely caused by the same issues that had concerned investors throughout 2018; namely Italy's budgetary woes, the trade war between the US and China, Brexit, and central banks' shift away from quantitative easing. The market then recovered through the first quarter of 2019 following the news of looser fiscal conditions in China and signs that trade talks with the US could be moving towards a positive outcome.

It was pleasing to see that a number of stocks that we had added to following share price weakness through the fourth quarter of 2018 were among the fund's biggest positive contributors in 2019 year-to-date. Namely, these were engineering technology company TKH, French cabling company Nexans and shipping company DFDS. Looking at the period as a whole, the two biggest contributions to performance came from technology companies Dialog Semiconductor and Soitec. Dialog Semiconductor announced that it sold part of the business to Apple, which served to highlight the sum-of-the-parts (SOTP) valuation that attracted us to the shares. Soitec delivered excellent results, confirming our view that the structural demand for silicon-on-insulator (due to its greater efficiency) outweighed the cyclical downturn we are seeing in semiconductor demand due to cryptocurrency falls and weak smart phone sales.

Clinigen also performed well following the announced acquisition of US rights to Proleukin (a kidney cancer drug) from Novartis for up to $210m. This fits with the company's other successes within specialty pharmaceuticals and also opens up further opportunities to expand the business in the US market. Other positives came from Swedish house builder JM, as Stockholm property prices look to be stabilising, and Gaztransport et Technigaz (liquefied natural gas liner manufacturer with good order momentum).

The biggest detractor was UK clothes retailer Superdry, which suffered from unseasonably hot weather and a feud between the management team and the founder, who had left the company earlier in 2018. Another detractor was Outotec, which supplies tailored plants for the minerals and metals processing industries. The company announced one-off costs relating to a problem project in Saudi Arabia that involves a smelting furnace rebuild (the cost to Outotec is still uncertain), but the underlying business momentum appears to be improving. We retained our holding, as we believe there is a good chance the market has overreacted.

In terms of stock activity, we bought former stock market darling UDG Healthcare, which provides commercialisation solutions for healthcare companies. A problem division led to a meaningful derating of its share price, offering a good entry point considering that we expect to see growth rates stabilise from here. We also invested in two out of favour industrials/cyclicals: Bodycote, as we like its speciality coatings division, and Georg Fischer, a company that does piping systems. New additions also included two companies that look to have been unfairly treated in the market sell-off. These included Cerved, which provides credit risk management in Italy; the resignation of its CEO presented a compelling valuation opportunity. We also added online ticketing company CTS Eventim, which has a strong track record in the entertainment space and is benefiting from a continued shift online.

We sold Travis Perkins and Europcar, among others, as we saw limited upside. We will use the proceeds to raise funds for new purchases. We also sold our holding in OVS despite its low valuation. The company has suffered losses in its Swiss joint venture, and retailing in Italy was negatively impacted by the weather, leaving the balance sheet looking stretched. We also took profit in Cineworld as the benefits of its deal with Regal increasingly look priced into the shares.

We continue to take a more positive view of the economy than the majority of investors. Following recent policy easing in China (which is such a large delta for European growth) we think it is likely that we will see manufacturing activity recover in the second half of 2019. That being said, the 'Japanification' of Europe goes on, with growth and bond yields likely to remain low for some time. Using the Japanese market of the past 20 years as a case study, we are encouraged that those areas to perform best were small cap, value and yield.

Janus Henderson Fund Global Equity Market Neutral Fund

Investment report for the period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019

Investment Fund Manager

Steve Johnstone

The fund fell 1.3% over the period under review based on Class R$ accumulation.

This compared favourably to the MSCI World Index (in local currency), which was down 2.2%, and to the broader HFRX Market Neutral Index, which was down 3.2% over the same period. The fund was hit in the final quarter of 2018, falling 3.7%, but bounced back strongly in the first quarter of 2019, rising 2.9%.

Towards the end of September, we added a new European manager to the pool of managers contributing ideas to the portfolio. This addition proved very successful.

October proved to be a tricky month for the fund, with headwinds from a sell-off in growth and quality across the US, Europe and Asia coupled with a broader deleveraging of many alternative funds as losses in the market intensified. We entered earnings season towards the end of October, and a few negative earnings surprises exacerbated the problem. For example, a pair of Chinese educational services holdings was hit on both sides following their respective earnings announcements. We were also hit on both sides of a US healthcare pair. November posed a similar problem when we were hampered by a few stock specifics. For example, a pair of Japanese pharmaceuticals holdings detracted, with the short side rallying through November on a number of broker upgrades. The fund proved much more resilient to the sell-off in December, returning 0.4% in a month when global stocks posted their worst December return since the Great Depression in 1931. The fund then proceeded to post strong returns in January and February, rising 1.7% and 2.1%, respectively.

On the positive side, the top performer was a US telecoms pair. The long side of the pair rallied 36% after reporting two earnings beats over the period. The short side of the pair fell sharply in October 2018 after reporting that its regular monthly subscribers fell in the third quarter. One of its main rivals also posted surprisingly strong earnings and subscriber gains in the same month, further fuelling the negative sentiment. The second highest contributor was a Japanese pair. A telecoms company on the long side rose 17.8% in February 2019 on the day the company announced an earnings beat and a share buyback. This signalled a shift in strategy for the founder and CEO, who has historically preferred spending capital on the company's portfolio of technology investments. A European utilities pair was also a strong contributor. The short side continued its poor start to the year, with the stock down 15.4% year to date to the end of March. Investors continued to be concerned about rumours of a rights issue, and earnings per share were also forecast to fall further.

On the negative side, the main detractor was an Australian pair. A beverages company on the long side was hit following the announcement that one of its Asia executives was joining a competitor, while an agricultural producer on the short side rallied after significantly surprising on its earnings and lifting guidance. The two surprises occurred in February 2019 within a short space of time, and the pair subsequently breached our lower stop loss and was removed. Another detractor was a European information technology services pair; the long side of the pair fell following a broker downgrade in December. We closed out the pair in January 2019.

As at the end of March 2019, we had 63 pairs on the book with a gross exposure of 179% and a net exposure of 0.3%.

We are cautious going forward. Markets had a strong start to 2019, which undid most of the fourth quarter's losses on the basis of receding fears about a global slowdown and the US Federal Reserve's change of stance. However, we do think China's growth will continue to slow, though not as dramatically as originally expected, and therefore, there will be an impact on global growth. This should open up opportunities on the short side. We have seen a couple of early examples of the China impact in the earnings season at the beginning of the 2019. As such, we believe that market neutral positions are still strong diversifiers in an investor's portfolio and should provide resilience against any future downturns. As such, we remain positive on our conviction and our approach.

Janus Henderson Fund United Kingdom Absolute Return Fund

Investment report for the period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019

Investment Fund Managers

Ben Wallace and Luke Newman

The fund fell 1.1% over the period under review based on Class R£ accumulation.

The final quarter of 2018 turned out to be a brutal period for equity markets, as volatility (sharper fluctuations in prices) surged. Lingering concerns over interest rate policy, US-China trade negotiations, slowing growth and continued uncertainty over the direction of negotiations over 'Brexit' (the UK's decision to leave the European Union) were perpetuated by extreme volatility within US technology names, with the sell-off gathering momentum towards the end of the year. December failed to lift the negative sentiment, with the S&P 500 Index posting its worst month since February 2009, and the worst December month since 1931. All major developed market indices finished 2018 sharply down.

The New Year saw global equity markets rise steeply, posting their best January since 1987, as investors sought to capitalise on oversold markets while a more dovish tone from the US Federal Reserve (Fed) helped stocks regain some of their lost ground. Against a backdrop of positive sentiment from US-China trade talks and improved macroeconomic data, particularly in Europe and China, February and March saw both equities and bonds continue to do well, with most developed equity markets recording high single-digit returns for the first three months of the year.

The long position in housebuilder Bellway was the most significant positive contributor to fund returns, helped by strong first half year results in which it announced home completions were up and an increased dividend. The long position in Swiss-listed healthcare company Roche was also a positive performer as growth concerns and a lower yield curve saw demand rise within the continental European equity market for names with long duration (a measure of interest rate sensitivity) and predictable compounding growth characteristics. Lastly, the long-standing holding in insurer Legal & General was accretive, as the share price reacted to positive political news around a potential 'softer' Brexit and investors continued to bid-up some of the attractively valued, domestically focused companies with strong fundamentals, also poised to benefit from any further possible recovery in Sterling.

The single largest detractor to returns was the long position in Tesco which – through a combination of domestic equity market weakness in the fourth quarter of 2018 and a miss on earnings expectations – lost a lot of the positive performance it had experienced through 2018. We subsequently reduced the position. The long position in Rolls Royce also detracted after the company hit production challenges with the Trent 7000 engines designed for Airbus's newest jet. Despite this setback we continue to see material absolute upside for the shares following a sustained period of capital investment and shareholders' interests being closely aligned with those of management through an improved long-term incentive plan structure.

Within the Short book a number of short positions in housebuilders – used as hedges against our overall long position within the sector – detracted from returns. We remain confident in our thesis of holding long positions in builders of out-of-London property with low average selling prices who are supported by government-backed initiatives, while hedging these with short holdings in housebuilders reliant on a faltering prime market.

Fund activity within the long-term Core book reflected a continuation in the manager's bullish view on UK equities, following many periods in recent years when the fund has had a net short positioning in UK domestics. The shorter-term Tactical book was also active over the period, with moves in currency, fixed income and commodity markets all presenting trading opportunities.

At the end of the reporting period there were still a number of permutations as to how the UK's eventual relationship with the EU will look, including the possibility of a lengthy delay to exiting. However, the reduced likelihood of the more extreme 'no deal' and 'no leave' outcomes brings a degree of more certainty to negotiations. This should continue to provide positive sentiment towards those UK equities offering highly attractive valuations, alongside the boost provided by any continued recovery in Sterling, which has historically been a leading indicator for strong domestic equity performance, both in absolute terms and relative to other developed equity markets. While likely to bring a degree of volatility as events unfold, we believe this vindicates the fund's continued long domestic bias.

1. General information

Janus Henderson Fund (the 'Company') was incorporated in Luxembourg on 26 September 2000 for an unlimited duration, and is governed by Part I of the Luxembourg law of 17 December 2010, as amended and qualifies as UCITS within the meaning of 1 (2) of EC Directive 2009/65 of 13 July 2009.

For the period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019, the Company comprised of the following eight funds:

Equity funds

Janus Henderson Fund Continental European Fund
Janus Henderson Fund Emerging Markets Fund
Janus Henderson Fund Global Equity Fund
Janus Henderson Fund Latin American Fund
Janus Henderson Fund Pan European Fund
Janus Henderson Fund Pan European Smaller Companies Fund

Alternate Solutions funds

Janus Henderson Fund Global Equity Market Neutral Fund
Janus Henderson Fund United Kingdom Absolute Return Fund

Equity funds

The Equity funds aim to achieve a long-term return, in excess of the long-term return that is typically achieved from the relevant equity markets, through investment of each fund's assets in a diversified range of transferable securities. Each Equity fund listed below will invest at least two thirds of its net assets in equity and/or equity related transferable securities and their derivatives, such as common stock, American Depository Receipts ('ADRs'), European Depository Receipts ('EDRs') and Global Depository Receipts ('GDRs'), preferred stock, warrants on equity and other rights to acquire stock. Within the remaining third each Equity fund may invest in convertible bonds and other debt securities (with or without warrants on transferable securities attached) or hold Money Market Instruments which are regularly negotiated and have a residual maturity which does not exceed 12 months.

Each Equity fund may use options, futures and other derivative instruments.

Please refer to the prospectus for each Equity fund's investment objective and policy.

Fund Name	Share Classes	Date launched
Global Equity Fund	I€ Acc (hedged)	8 March 2019
	R€ Acc (hedged)	8 March 2019

There were no share classes closed during the period 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019.

Alternate Solutions funds

The Alternate Solutions funds may invest extensively in derivatives providing both long and synthetic short positions (short positions through the use of derivatives). As a result, as well as holding assets that may rise or fall with market values, an Alternate Solutions fund may also hold positions that may rise as the market value falls and fall as the market value rises. However, if the value of that security increases, it will have a negative effect on the fund's value. In a rising market, leverage can enhance returns to investors but if the market falls, losses may be greater. The Alternate Solutions funds may employ leverage as part of their investment strategy when using derivatives. Derivatives may contain a leverage component and consequently any adverse changes in the value or level of the underlying asset, rate or index can result in a loss greater than the amount invested in the derivative itself. Each Alternate Solutions fund may use options, futures and swaps as well as other types of derivative instruments for hedging and investment purposes. The Investment Manager may use one or more separate counterparties to undertake derivative transactions. As with all counterparty agreements, there is a risk to each party of a contract that the counterparty will not meet its contractual obligations. The Investment Manager assesses the credit worthiness of counterparties as part of the risk management process. The Alternate Solutions funds may use forward foreign exchange transactions, to hedge, as far as is reasonably practicable, the currency exposure of the underlying assets as against the base currency of the relevant fund. However, this will not eliminate a funds' currency risk. The Alternate Solutions funds aim to achieve positive returns through investments in equity securities and their derivatives but a substantial proportion of the assets of the fund may at any time consist of cash, near cash, deposits and/or money market instruments.

Please refer to the prospectus for each Alternate Solutions fund's investment objective and policy.

There were no share classes launched or closed during the period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019.

2. Presentation of Financial Statements

The accompanying financial statements present the financial position including the assets and liabilities of the Company and each fund in accordance with Luxembourg legal and regulatory requirements relating to the preparation and presentation of the financial statements. They are prepared in the designated currency of each fund as stated in the prospectus. The combined statements of the Company are prepared in Euros.

3. Significant accounting policies

The following is a summary of the significant accounting policies followed by the Company:

Valuation of investment securities

The valuation of investments within the portfolio, listed securities and securities dealt on any stock exchange will be valued based on the last available price on the stock exchange which is normally the principal market for such assets. The value of assets dealt on any other regulated market is based on the last available price at 23:59 Luxembourg time, except the Emerging Markets Fund which is based on the price at 09:00 Luxembourg time on the last valuation day of the accounting period (29 March 2019) and in accordance with the rules set out in the prospectus.

Securities which are neither listed on any stock exchange nor dealt on another regulated market will be valued in such manner as the Directors consider appropriate to reflect their fair value.

Units or shares of collective investment schemes ('CIS') are valued at their last determined and available net asset value or, if such price is not representative of the fair market value of such assets, then the price as determined by the Directors on a fair and equitable basis. Units or shares of a listed closed-ended CIS are valued at their last available stock market value.

In the case of short term instruments, the value of the instrument, based on the net acquisition cost, is gradually adjusted to the par value price thereof. In the event of material changes in market conditions, the valuation basis of the investment is adjusted to the new market yields.

Any difference arising between the cost of securities held at the reporting date and their market value at that date is recognised as unrealised appreciation or depreciation.

Forward foreign exchange contracts

Forward foreign exchange contracts are valued at the forward rate applicable at the statement of net assets date for the period until maturity. Gains or losses resulting from forward foreign exchange contracts are recognised in the Statement of Operations and Statement of Changes in Net Assets.

Financial futures contracts

Financial future contracts are valued at the exchange quoted price at the valuation point. Initial margin deposits are made in cash upon entering into financial futures contracts. During the period when the financial future contract is open, changes in the value of the contract are recognised as unrealised gains and losses by marking to market on a daily basis to reflect the market value of the contract at the end of each day's trading. Variation margin payments are made or received, depending upon whether unrealised losses or gains are incurred. Variation margin payments are recorded in Note 15. When the contract is closed, the fund records a realised gain or loss equal to the difference between the proceeds from (or cost of) the closing transaction and the opening transaction.

Options

When a fund purchases an option, it pays a premium and an amount equal to that premium is recorded as an investment. When a fund sells an option, it receives a premium and an amount equal to that premium is recorded as a liability. The investment or liability is adjusted daily to reflect the current market value of the option. If an option expires unexercised, the fund realises a gain or loss to the extent of the premium received or paid.

Contracts for difference

For contracts for difference, changes in the value of the contracts are recognised as unrealised gains or losses in the statement of net assets by 'marking-to-market' the value at the balance sheet date, using prices supplied by independent pricing services that are based on the closing prices of the underlying securities on the recognised exchanges. When a contract is closed, the difference between the proceeds from (or cost of) the closing transaction and the original transaction is recorded as a realised gain or loss in the Statement of Operations.

Realised gains & losses on sale of investments

The computation of realised gains and losses on sales of investments is made on the basis of average cost.

Income

Dividends receivable from quoted equity and non equity shares are credited to revenue, when the security is quoted ex-dividend. Dividends on unquoted stocks are credited to revenue when the dividend is announced.

Bank interest and margin interest earned on derivative positions are recognised on an accruals basis. Positive margin interest is disclosed under the caption 'Derivative income' and any negative margin interest is disclosed under 'Derivative expense' in the Statement of Operations.

Bond interest and interest from certificates of deposit are accrued on a daily basis.

Long positions held on contracts for difference are subject to financing costs. Interest is calculated and charged on a daily basis on the contract value. Similarly if short positions are held, interest will be received. This interest paid or received is recorded as 'Interest received/paid on contracts for difference' within the Statement of Operations, depending on its nature.

Special dividends are recognised as either revenue or capital depending on the nature and circumstances of the dividends receivable.

Dividend, REIT and interest income is disclosed net of withholding tax where applicable.

Dividend charges or credits are used to ensure that the contracts for difference mirror the value of the underlying stock when a dividend is announced. If a long position is held a payment will be received on the ex-dividend date and is reflected within 'Derivative income' in the Statement of Operations. If a short position is held, a charge is deducted on ex-dividend date and is reflected within 'Derivative expenses' in the Statement of Operations.

Where the fund invests into a CIS, management fee rebates are received from Investment Managers and are recognised when the entitlement arises, as either income or capital in accordance with the treatment of the management fee charged on the underlying collective investment schemes. Management fee rebates are reflected in the Statement of Operations under 'Other income'.

Revenue derived from the gains/losses on hedged class forward currency contracts is allocated to both the capital and revenue of the share class based upon the prior day capital/revenue split.

Securities lending

The Company has entered into a securities lending programme with BNP Paribas Securities Services acting as the Securities Lending Agent for the purposes of efficient portfolio management and in order to generate income.

The Securities Lending Agent shall ensure that sufficient value and quality of collateral is received before or simultaneously with the movement of loaned collateral. This will then be held throughout the duration of the loan transaction and only returned once the lent asset has been received or returned back to the relevant fund.

Securities lending revenue is accounted for in the Statement of Operations in 'Other income'.

Designated currencies

As permitted by Luxembourg Law, the accounts and records of the Company are maintained in Euros (EUR), with the exception of the Emerging Markets Fund, the Global Equity Fund and the Latin American Fund which are kept in US Dollars (USD) and the United Kingdom Absolute Return Fund which is kept in Sterling (GBP).

Transactions carried out in any other currency other than Euros, which is the designated currency of the Company, are translated at the exchange rates ruling at the transaction date. Assets and liabilities are translated at the exchange rates ruling at the balance sheet date.

When the designated currency of a fund is not Euros, the difference between the opening net assets converted at exchange rates ruling at the beginning of the period, and closing net assets converted at exchange rates ruling at the end of the financial accounting period are disclosed in the combined statement of change in net assets as 'exchange rate effect on opening net assets'.

3. Significant accounting policies (continued)

Hedged share classes

Any gains or losses that are incurred as a result of the hedging transactions will accrue to the relevant share class only.

The value of the share class to be hedged will be made up of both capital and income elements and the investment manager intends to hedge between 95-105% of the value of each hedged share class. Adjustments to any hedge to keep within this target range will only be made when the required adjustment is material. As such the hedged class shares will not be completely protected from all currency fluctuations.

4. Dilution adjustment

The Janus Henderson Fund operates a single swinging price policy, the threshold of which is determined by the Directors.

The Investment Manager may consider that it is in the best interests of the Company to apply a swing pricing adjustment, given the prevailing market conditions and the level of certain subscriptions or redemptions requested by shareholders in relation to the size of any fund. A swing pricing adjustment (a means of compensating a fund for the dilution effect of material subscriptions or redemption activity within the fund) may be applied to the Net Asset Value to account for the cost of dealing in the underlying securities. The swing pricing mechanism may be applied across all funds and may be adopted to protect the interests of shareholders of the Company.

If the net dealing on any valuation day is greater than the set tolerance of the total value of a fund, the price will be swung up/down depending on whether the net dealing is positive/negative.

The adjustment is included in the price of a fund, therefore all investors in a fund will be affected by the price adjustment. e.g. if the price is swung up, investors buying into the fund will get fewer shares for their investment amount, while if it is swung down, investors redeeming their shares will do so at a lower price.

On 29 March 2019, the last working day of the period under review, no dilution adjustments were applied to the funds.

5. Exchange Rates

The exchange rates used for the conversion into EUR of assets and liabilities of each fund denominated in other currencies and with respect to funds whose investments are valued at 09:00 Luxembourg time as detailed in Note 2 and 3 to the financial statements as at 29 March 2019 are as follows:

RBC Investor Services Bank S.A., was appointed by the Management Company as Registrar and Transfer Agent under a registrar and transfer agent agreement (the 'Registrar and Transfer Agent Agreement'). The Registrar Agent is responsible for processing the issue, redemption and transfer of shares as well as the keeping of the register of shareholders.

The Registrar and Transfer Agent will receive fees in respect of services provided and reasonable out of pocket expenses. Such fees will be payable monthly in arrears by the Management Company out of the assets of the Company.

Custodian fees

Under a Depositary agreement dated 18 March 2016, BNP Paribas Securities Services Luxembourg Branch (the 'Custodian') has undertaken to provide custodial services for safekeeping the Company's securities and cash.

The Company pays to the Custodian by way of remuneration, fees in consideration for providing services to it, along with such out of pocket expenses and disbursements as are deemed reasonable and customary by the Directors.

The Company will also pay the Depositary custody fees comprising of asset-based fees and transaction-based fees that vary depending on the market in which a particular fund invests. Both fees are paid monthly in arrears. Transaction based fees will not exceed GBP120 (EUR 180) per transaction.

Depositary fees

BNP Paribas Securities Services, Luxembourg Branch has been appointed as Depositary for the fund in order to comply with UCITS V Directive. The Company will pay the Depositary a fee for fiduciary services, which is set at a rate of 0.006% per annum on the total net assets of the relevant fund (subject to a minimum fee of GBP 1,200 (EUR 1,400) per fund). This fee is accrued daily and is paid monthly in arrears.

Other expenses

The Company will also pay, as far as is allowable under applicable regulations, all other operating expenses subject to the expenses limit described above, which include, without limitation, taxes, expenses for legal and auditing services, printing shareholders' reports, Prospectuses, all reasonable out of pocket expenses incurred by the Directors, registration fees and other expenses payable to supervisory and local authorities, regulatory and tax representatives appointed in various jurisdictions, insurance, interest costs, brokerage fees and costs (which, in the case of non EU sub-investment managers, may include an element for investment research). The Company will also pay fees or other charges levied in respect of the provision and use of benchmarks, dividend and redemption payment costs and the costs of publication of the net asset value per share or other fund information, including, but not limited to, that required to be published by any regulatory authority.

During the period an analysis of expense accruals was completed which resulted in prior year expense adjustments being processed. The cumulative sum of these adjustments are shown under the 'other expenses' caption in the Statement of Operations of each fund, which could result in a negative 'other expenses' balance for some of the funds.

Annual expenses

The Management Company has undertaken to limit the annual expenses (other than the annual management charge, performance fee, dilution levy if applicable, the service fee in respect of Class B shares, the expenses related to the purchase and sale of investments and the cost of hedging) borne by each share class of the Company to a maximum of 0.50% of the average net asset value per share of such share class. Any other expenses of the Company in excess of the maximum will be borne by the Investment Manager, and will be settled following the accounting year end of the Company.

There were no expenses that exceeded the maximum of 0.50% for the period ended 31 March 2019.

7. Share class service fee

In relation to Class B shares, the sub-distributors appointed by the Principal Distributor shall be entitled to receive a service fee paid by the Company as compensation for services provided and expenses incurred by the sub-distributors in promoting the sale of Class B shares for the Company, including assistance to the investors in handling orders for subscriptions, redemptions and conversions of shares, providing and interpreting current information about the Company, and other information or assistance as may be requested. The service fee which the Sub-Distributors are entitled to receive will be 0.5% per annum of the net asset value per share of Class B shares.

In respect of class R, F, H no Service Fee will be applicable.

No redemption charge will be applicable to subscribers in classes R, B, F and H.

10. Taxation

Under Luxembourg tax law, there are no Luxembourg income, withholding or capital gains taxes payable by the Company. The Company will, however, be subject to the tax on Luxembourg undertakings for collective investment ('Subscription Tax').

R, B, F and H share classes of the Company which are offered in the funds will be subject to the Subscription Tax at the rate of 0.05% per annum of the value of the total net assets of such share class on the last day of each calendar quarter, whereas G, I, E and Z share classes of the Company in the funds (reserved to Institutional Investors within the meaning of the 2010 Law) are subject to the Subscription Tax at the rate of 0.01% per annum of the value of the total net assets of such share class on the last day of each calendar quarter.

No stamp duty or other tax is payable in Luxembourg on the issue of shares in the Company.

Capital gains, dividends and interest on securities issued in other countries may be subject to withholding and capital gains taxes imposed by such countries.

11. Share class details

Shares of each class in the Company have no par value, are freely transferable and, within each class, are entitled to participate equally in the profits arising in respect of, and in the proceeds of a liquidation of, the fund to which they are attributable. All classes of shares are issued in registered form.

The number and type of classes of shares available in each fund are detailed in the prospectus. The differences between share classes relate to the minimum investment, currency of denomination, dividend policy, the type of investor who is eligible to invest, the hedging strategy and the charging structure applicable to each of them.

Hedged share classes

Share classes with currency hedging are denoted by the term 'hedged' in brackets after the share class name. A hedged share class is a share class designated in a currency other than the base currency of the relevant fund. Hedged share classes allow the Investment Manager to use currency hedging transactions to reduce the effect of fluctuations in the rate of exchange between the designated currency of shares in those classes and the base currency of the fund.

The other characteristics of the hedged share class (e.g. dividend policy, minimum investment, management fee etc) remain the same as those above but their cost is higher due to the cost of the currency hedging. Confirmation of the funds and currencies in which the hedged share classes are available can be obtained from the registered office of the Company or from your local sales office.

12. Net asset value

The net asset value calculated on each fund will be expressed in the designated currency of the funds, calculated on each business day in Luxembourg on each valuation point and on other days as approved by the Board.

The net asset value per share of each fund will be expressed in the designated currency of the fund or share class concerned and shall be determined as at any valuation point by dividing the net assets of the Company attributable to each share class of each fund, being the value of the portion of the assets less the portion of liabilities attributable to each share class of each fund at any such valuation point, by the number of shares in the relevant share class of each fund then outstanding. The net asset value per share of each share class within each fund may, at the discretion of the Directors, be rounded up or down to the nearest ten-thousandth of a €, $, £, S$ or CHF in the case of each share class denominated in €, $, £, S$ or CHF respectively and may be rounded up or down to the nearest hundredth of a ¥ in the case of each share class denominated in ¥. Any other currency share class that becomes available will be rounded up or down using similar principles as the above mentioned currencies (at the discretion of the Directors).

Further details on rules that apply in valuing the total assets can be found in the current prospectus.

The assets of the funds are valued using the latest market and exchange prices available at different times during the day of 29 March 2019, being the last business day of the reporting period.

If the Company had calculated the net asset values solely with a view to publication at the end of the interim accounting period 31 March 2019, the market prices used to value investments would have been the closing prices as at 31 March 2019. However, using these prices would not have caused the net asset values to significantly differ from those shown in the financial statements.

13. Equalisation

The Company will maintain equalisation accounts in relation to the shares with a view to ensuring that the levels of distribution payable to investors in the shares are not affected by the issue and redemption of, or the switch from or into, shares of those funds during an accounting period. The price at which shares are bought by an investor will therefore be deemed to include an equalisation payment (which will be credited to the relevant equalisation account) calculated by reference to the net income attributed to the share class accrued since the last accounting year, net of fees, charges and expenses where applicable.

The first dividend reinvestment/distribution after the issue of such shares (or on the redemption of such shares if redeemed before a dividend is declared), a sum equal to the income equalisation amounts reflected in the dealing prices at which the shares were issued will be included in the reinvestment/distribution.

14. Dividend distributions

No dividends were declared during the period as the funds only distribute/accumulate annually.

Risk policies

The Management Company employs a risk management process that identifies the risks to which the individual funds and the Company taken as a whole are or might be exposed and how such risks are assessed, monitored and managed, ensuring compliance with relevant regulation. This enables it to monitor and measure at any time the risk of the portfolio positions and their contribution to the overall risk profile of the relevant fund, thereby ensuring that the global exposure of the underlying assets, including derivative instruments, shall not exceed the total net value of the relevant fund. In accordance with the Law of 17 December 2010 and the applicable regulatory requirements of the Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier ('CSSF') the Management Company reports to the CSSF on a regular basis on the risk management process on behalf of the Company.

Method

The global exposure of a fund is calculated by using either the commitment approach or value-at-risk approach by reference to its risk profile. The commitment approach means that financial derivative instruments are converted into the market value of the equivalent position in the underlying asset(s). Value-at-Risk ('VaR') is a mathematical-statistical concept and is commonly used as a standard measure of risk in the financial sector. The VaR approach is used, in general, for funds using derivative instruments or techniques within their investment strategies to generate additional leverage or market risk exposure.

Funds using the VaR approach

For such funds, the maximum potential loss that a fund could suffer in normal market conditions within a given time horizon and a certain degree of confidence is estimated. In these calculations all positions in the relevant portfolio are taken into consideration including those undertaken for efficient portfolio management purposes. For the purpose of calculating global exposure by VaR either a relative VaR approach or absolute VaR approach can be used; the selection of relative or absolute VaR methodology is determined by the availability of a reference portfolio appropriate for a fund in meeting its investment objective.

VaR model

VaR has been calculated using a Monte Carlo simulation approach. As a control mechanism, Monte Carlo results are compared to the parametric model for validation purposes within the daily monitoring process.

Parameters

The following parameters are applied as a minimum: a one-tailed 99% confidence interval, a holding period equivalent to one month (20 business days), effective observation period (history) of risk factors of at least 1 period (250 business days), quarterly data set updates and daily calculation.

Limits

For funds which have a suitable reference portfolio, the regulatory limit is that the VaR of the total portfolio's positions shall not be greater than twice the VaR of the portfolio's reference portfolio.

For those funds which are unable or for which it is not appropriate to determine a reference portfolio (e.g. absolute return type funds) an absolute VaR is calculated on all of the portfolio's positions. Absolute monthly VaR on such funds is not to exceed a regulatory maximum threshold of 20%.

The VaR method, limits and utilisation of those limits for the period 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019 are summarised in the table below:

VaR Results - for the period ended 31 March 2019

Fund	Global Exposure Calculation basis	Actual VaR in period			VaR Limit	Utilisation of VaR Limit
		Minimum	Maximum	Average		Minimum	Maximum	Average
Global Equity Market Neutral Fund	Absolute VaR	1.82%	2.98%	2.14%	20%	9.09%	14.88%	10.67%
United Kingdom Absolute Return Fund	Absolute VaR	1.14%	1.55%	1.35%	20%	5.70%	7.73%	6.75%

Leverage

For those funds measuring and monitoring global exposure using the VaR approach, the level of leverage arising from the use of derivative instruments is disclosed in the table below as a percentage of each fund's total Net Asset Value. The calculation is based on the sum of notional exposures of financial derivative instruments in the investment portfolio including those held for risk reduction purposes.

Please note this level of leverage is explicitly not an investment limit for the relevant fund and will vary over time under differing market conditions to ensure that the relevant fund meets its investment objective.

Leverage - for the period ended 31 March 2019

Fund	Leverage
	Minimum	Maximum	Average
Global Equity Market Neutral Fund	171.29%	219.63%	189.73%
United Kingdom Absolute Return Fund	68.72%	114.52%	85.69%

Funds using Commitment Approach

The global exposure for those funds not specified in the table above has been determined according to the commitment approach during the reporting period from 1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019. For such funds, each fund's total commitment to derivatives is limited to 100% of the relevant fund's total net value, being quantified as the sum as an absolute value of the individual commitments, after consideration of the possible effects of appropriate netting and hedging arrangements.

Securities financing transactions
