

Janus Henderson Global Equity Fund

For promotional purposes

A global approach seeking to identify high-quality companies benefiting from secular growth trends.

May be suitable for investors seeking long-term equity exposure to the growth potential of resilient companies from around the world.

Designed to:

Capture growth potential underappreciated by the market: The fund seeks to invest in high quality and growing companies, with strong competitive advantages and sustainable long-term growth rates that are not priced in by the wider market.

Invest in high-quality companies on attractive valuations: Favours attractively-valued companies that have the resilience to weather unforeseen events and exhibit robust ESG* characteristics. Valuations are assessed based on long-term earnings growth, cashflow and balance sheet strength.

*Environmental, social and governance

Deliver attractive returns over the long term: Companies are sought that, at the right valuation, could be held in the portfolio forever. The managers view risk and opportunity in terms of actual financial loss or gain and see the risk of permanent loss of capital as more relevant than relative underperformance.

Benefiting from:

A small team of proven investors: The four-strong Global Equities Team has more than 70 years' combined investment experience* and operate within a supportive boutique culture in Edinburgh. The managers implement a disciplined process and are able to share ideas with the Global Emerging Market Equities Team.

Focusing on more predictable long-term trends: The fund seeks exposure to long-term secular growth trends, driven by innovation or demographics, which are underappreciated by the market. These trends currently include Health Care Innovation, Internet Transformation, Paperless Payment, Energy Efficiency and Emerging Markets Growth.

Non-index fund construction: Benchmark indices are not used as a starting point for fund construction or as a 'relative' target to beat. Company size, sector and country allocation are determined solely by stock selection.

 We seek to avoid harmful short-term distractions and pressures by taking a long-term approach that allows us to capture opportunities at attractive valuations and tap into strong growth potential.”

Ian Warmerdam, Head of Global Equities, Portfolio Manager

High-conviction, investment process: The fund typically holds between 40 and 60 stocks with fundamental trends within a business considered more important and predictable than fluctuations in the wider economy.

Opportunity set:

New and exciting niches of growth are always prone to hype and high valuation, which can create dangerous pitfalls for investment. There are, however, a number of areas of high secular growth that remain underappreciated by the market. The team considers how these secular trends can create attractive end markets for a variety of companies, providing an opportunity for them to perform well regardless of the prevailing economic climate. This, aligned with the proven process and experience of the Janus Henderson UK-based Global Equities Team, affords an exciting opportunity.
