Investment objective and policy

To provide a sustainable income return with the prospect for capital growth whilst maintaining a moderately high level of volatility (variation of returns) over the medium to long term. The fund is managed so that it aims not to deviate from predetermined parameters of forecast volatility, as measured by an independent risk rating body, over a medium to long term rolling period of at least 5 years. However, during this period the fund's forecast volatility may be outside of such parameters if the portfolio manager believes it is expedient to do so in order to improve investment performance. Observing the forecast volatility parameters will be prioritised over the generation of income and capital growth. The fund will invest in a combination of transferable securities, fixed income securities, investment companies, collective investment schemes, exchange traded funds (ETFs), money market instruments, deposits, cash and near cash. Derivatives and forward transactions may be used by the fund for investment purposes to achieve asset allocation and for the purposes of efficient portfolio management.

Risk and reward profile

The fund currently has 2 types of share class: I income and I accumulation. The risk and reward profile of each type of share class is as follows:

The Synthetic Risk and Reward Indicator (SRRI) is calculated based on historical volatility over a rolling 5 year period, it is reviewed monthly and updated if volatility has changed materially to cause a movement in the SRRI level. The SRRI is an indicator and may not accurately reflect future volatility and market conditions. The value of an investment in the fund can go up or down. When you sell your shares, they may be worth less than you paid for them. The risk/reward rating above is based on medium-term volatility. In the future, the fund's actual volatility could be higher or lower and its rated risk/reward level could change.

The lowest category does not mean risk free.

The fund's risk level reflects the following:

- The fund invests in, or otherwise gains exposure to, a mix of different asset classes.
- Fluctuations in exchange rates may cause the value of your investment to rise or fall.

The fund targets a risk profile of 6 as calculated by Distribution Technology who is engaged by Henderson as an independent provider of risk profiling tools to funds and investment advisers.

Distribution Technology profiles funds using a rating scale of 1-10 and takes into consideration risk targets and other factors as well as past data. Investors should note that the Distribution Technology risk profile is different to the 'Risk and Reward Profile' scale above, which is an industry standard required by the FCA using a scale of 1-7 and which only takes into account past data.

For further information on the Distribution Technology risk profile please contact us or refer to the fund's prospectus.

The following risks apply to investments in the fund. These could be triggered or made worse by unusual market conditions or unpredictable market events.

The rating does not reflect the possible effects of unusual market conditions or unpredictable market events. Under normal market conditions the following risk may apply:

Counterparty risk The fund could lose money if an entity with which it interacts becomes unwilling or unable to meet its obligations to the fund.

Default risk The risk of default may be higher where the fund invests in sub-investment grade bonds.

Derivatives risk Using derivatives can involve a higher level of risk. A small movement in the price of an underlying investment may result in a disproportionately large movement in the price of the derivative instrument.

Liquidity risk In difficult market conditions certain securities could become hard to value or sell at a desired time and price.

Management risk Investment management techniques that have worked well in normal market conditions could prove ineffective or detrimental at other times.

The full list of the fund's risks are contained in the "Risk Warnings" section of the fund's prospectus.

There have been no changes to the risk rating in the period.

The SRRI conforms to the ESMA guidelines for the calculation of the SRRI.

This fund is a non-UCITS retail fund and we have adopted this disclosure to enable comparison across our fund range.

*The fund was launched on 10 May 2013, therefore, the SRRI is calculated based on historical volatility over a rolling period since inception.

Investment review

The fund returned 12.6% over the period.

The underlying portfolio delivered a strong positive contribution across the multi-asset and multi-instrument holdings. International equity holdings benefited from region specific dynamics and sterling weakness towards the end of the period. The JP Morgan Emerging Markets Income Trust performed well, as previously unloved cyclical emerging market stocks saw a reversal in investor sentiment. US equities continued to push to all-time highs as markets rewarded positive earnings growth, which was captured by the S&P 500 contracts for difference (CFD) and the direct holdings in Chevron and Verizon Communications. UK equity holdings saw international revenue streams perform strongly in the post-referendum environment, which supported large-cap holdings, including the RWC Enhanced Income Fund and direct holdings in British American Tobacco and Rio Tinto.

Elsewhere, market volatility led to high duration (a measure of interest rate sensitivity) assets faring particularly well over the period, with US dollar-denominated assets seeing their returns amplified by currency movements. The iShares US TIPS ETF benefited from the dual elements of this dynamic, while higher risk fixed instruments, such as the iShares II USD High Yield Corporate Bond, also delivered substantial returns. Emerging market bonds saw a rotation in investor sentiment, and experienced strong performance in both US dollar and local currency instruments. This environment presented a good opportunity for positive returns from strategic bond funds, with the Henderson Fixed Interest Monthly Income Fund participating in the general fixed income rally.

The weakest performance came from UK commercial property holdings as sentiment towards sterling (GBP) real assets waned after a prolonged period of positive returns. The Henderson UK Property PAIF saw a change to its pricing and valuation methodologies, while listed property investment companies also saw deterioration in capital values.

Equity holdings were trimmed over the course of the period, with proceeds allocated to increase weights in fixed income assets and cash. A new UK holding was added in the Henderson Institutional High Alpha UK Equity Fund, but overall exposure to the UK was reduced as the iShares UK Dividend ETF was trimmed and the direct holding in Investec was completely sold. US equities were increased by adding to the S&P 500 CFD, while Europe was trimmed by reducing the SPDR Euro Dividend Aristocrats ETF. Asian and emerging markets were maintained at their present weights and holdings.

High yield bonds were increased in allocation through a new holding in the Henderson Horizon Global High Yield Bond Fund and by adding to the position in the iShares Euro High Yield Corporate Bond. A position in government bonds was initiated in the iShares JP Morgan USD Emerging Market Bond ETF and the SPDR Barclays Emerging Markets Local Bond UCITS ETF.

Within alternatives, profits were taken from property in the run up to the EU referendum vote against a backdrop of deteriorating flows and liquidity. The Henderson UK Property PAIF was trimmed while the holding in the UK Commercial Property Trust was completely sold. Elsewhere, the BH Macro Trust was replaced by the International Public Partner Trust.

Given the recent strength of cross-asset performance, we are beginning to take a more cautious stance in our portfolios. In particular, certain assets appear to have experienced unsustainable price movements, with low volatility equities, investment grade credit and unhedged, non-sterling equities all showing signs that they have been overbought. However, we are reluctant to rotate into the laggards just yet, as liquidity and market fundamentals such as earnings growth remain poor.

From an economic perspective, nominal growth remains subdued, and this provides continued support for global bond yields.

Nevertheless, the increasing propensity to implement fiscal over monetary policy may begin to reverse this relationship to a degree. We are still overweight equities relative to duration assets, and we see credit as more attractive than government bonds in our fixed income allocations. Our cash levels remain above average and we maintain an underweight in sterling relative to other international currencies.
