CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT

Performance and markets

During the six months to 28 February 2018 the net asset value ('NAV') total return per ordinary share was 0.8%. The Company's return on the ordinary share price (on the same basis) was also 0.8%. In comparison, the Company's benchmark total return was 2.3% (MSCI World (ex UK) Index (sterling adjusted)).

Economic growth around the world has continued to pick up over the period. News continues to be dominated by US government policy. Whilst investors remain concerned by potential US trade policy changes, the significant reduction in US corporate tax rates has driven earnings upgrades for many US companies and may stimulate investment.

Other notable trends over the period include increased demand for technology components and commodities, both of which have been driven by the improved economic growth environment. Against this backdrop the US Federal Reserve has continued to raise interest rates while some central banks are indicating that they will consider reducing their level of monetary stimulus. Over the period, the pound strengthened which was a drag on total return as the Company has no sterling assets.

Earnings and dividends

The revenue return per ordinary share during the six months to 28 February 2018 was 1.51p. A fourth interim dividend of 1.30p per ordinary share, for the year ended 31 August 2017, was paid to shareholders on 30 November 2017, bringing the total dividend paid in respect of the year ended 31 August 2017 to 4.90p per ordinary share (year ended 31 August 2016: 4.65p per ordinary share).

The board declared a first interim dividend payment for the year ending 31 August 2018 of 1.30p per ordinary share and this was paid to shareholders on 28 February 2018. Subsequently, we have declared a second interim dividend of 1.30p per ordinary share that will be paid to shareholders on 31 May 2018. The board continues to monitor the level of dividend paid out to shareholders and aims to maintain the same level of dividend for the remaining six months of this financial year.

Gearing

Well-judged gearing enhances returns to shareholders. The board's current policy is to permit the fund manager to gear up to 25% of net assets at the time of drawdown or investment, as appropriate. Borrowing limits for this purpose include implied gearing through the use of derivatives. The gearing at the period end was 0.8% (31 August 2017: 0.3%).

Discount control

The Company's share price has traded close to its NAV over the period. The board continues to monitor the premium/discount to NAV and will consider appropriate action if the relationship between NAV and share price moves and remains out of line with the Company's peer group. However, there is a distinct limit to the board's ability to influence the premium or discount to NAV. Accordingly, we believe it is not in shareholders' interests to have a specific issuance or buy-back policy. We believe that it is sensible to retain flexibility; therefore we shall consider issuance and/or buy-backs where appropriate and subject to market conditions.

Material events and transactions during the period

A total of 2,325,000 new shares were issued in the six months to 28 February 2018 and the proceeds were added to the portfolio. Since the period end a further 275,000 new shares have been issued.

Key Information Document

In line with the new European regulations for packaged investment products which took effect in January 2018, a Key Information Document ('KID') has been produced by the manager. The KID is based on prescribed guidelines with almost no scope for deviation. The projected returns are derived solely from past performance and in the view of your board should be treated with extreme caution as the board believes that past performance is not necessarily a reliable predictor of future performance.

Board changes

As set out in the 2017 annual report, Christopher Jonas decided to retire as chairman of the board with effect from the annual general meeting held on 7 December 2017. I thank Christopher for his leadership and for his immense contribution to the success of the Company since inception.

Kasia Robinski who joined the board on 1 November 2017 has become the audit committee chairman as planned.

Outlook

Economic growth has been improving around the world while unemployment continues to fall in most major economies. Despite expected, but modest, interest rate increases in some countries such as the US and UK, elsewhere, monetary policy in general remains focused on stimulating economic activity. Against this, the political landscape remains as uneven as ever.

In these circumstances international diversification has a significant role to play in portfolio design. The board believes that the Company's mandate provides our fund manager with the flexibility required to adapt to the circumstances of the day and to position our portfolio in the light of his interpretation of them. The Company's portfolio has the ability to benefit from volatility and to deliver growth in dividend income and the potential to grow investors' capital in coming years.

PRINCIPAL RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

The principal risks and uncertainties associated with the Company's business can be divided into the following main areas:

- Investment activity and performance risks;

Information on these risks and how they are managed is given in the annual report to 31 August 2017. In the view of the board, these principal risks and uncertainties were unchanged over the last six months and are as applicable to the remaining six months of the financial year as they were to the six months under review.

FUND MANAGER'S REPORT

Performance review

The portfolio produced a total return of 0.8% in net asset value ('NAV') per ordinary share over the period. This included dividends totalling 2.60p per share, which increased by 8.3% as compared to the same period in 2017.

The Company's investment process focuses on companies with attractive dividend yields, strong cash flow generation, and the potential to grow both earnings and distributions in the future. Income from the portfolio during the period has remained robust and the majority of our companies have increased or maintained their dividends. Dividend growth has been widely spread across sectors and regions. Examples of large increases in dividends include Italian utility Enel (17% year-on-year increase in payment for the period), US retailer Best Buy (21%), and US bank JP Morgan (12%). The US government passed a tax reform at the start of 2018 which significantly lowers the tax rates for companies' US profits and encourages the repatriation of earnings and cash that have been generated outside the US. This change in taxation increases the domestic earnings of many of our US holdings and coupled with the potential repatriation of overseas earnings creates the potential to increase dividend pay-outs.

The investment team's objective is to provide investors with an attractive, rising level of dividends and capital appreciation over the long term. Dividend growth from the portfolio has been excellent over the period but while we have produced a positive total return this has lagged the MSCI World (ex-UK) Index (sterling adjusted). With the benefit of hindsight we have been a little cautious and could have taken more cyclical exposure.

Many companies are in the midst of a technological revolution, driven by improved connectivity and enhanced data processing power. Companies across many industries are investing more and more in technology and this sector is now the second largest in the portfolio (12.7%) and has contributed several of the most significant positive performers. These investments include Microsoft, Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing and the printer company HP Inc. All of these companies are leaders in their respective fields and are experiencing strong earnings growth. Other strong performers included paper and packaging company UPM-Kymmene, and US retailer Best Buy. More defensive sectors with less exposure to improving economic growth lagged the market, such as the pharmaceutical and telecommunications sectors. Many of the portfolio holdings in these sectors are delivering earnings growth but for now they remain out of favour relative to cyclical sectors.

Portfolio positioning

The geographic weightings of the portfolio have not changed significantly over the period, and gearing remains low. The largest change in the positioning was the increased exposure to the oil sector. The fall in the price of oil in recent years has forced a previously undisciplined sector (in general) to focus on cash flow and profitability. We have been pleasantly surprised by the ability of certain companies to improve their profitability, and have taken advantage of the lack of interest in the sector to add exposure. Positions added included oil services company Tenaris, and oil exploration and production companies Occidental Petroleum and Vermilion Energy. The increased exposure was funded by the sale of certain telecommunication holdings, including Telenor, China Mobile and Portuguese operator NOS. Although many of these companies are providing infrastructure for the technological revolution discussed above, it has become increasingly apparent that they are limited in their ability to capture their share of the additional value streams due to the regulatory environment in which they operate.
