CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT

Performance

Global stock markets in the developed world made strong returns during the six-month period to 30 September 2018, led by the US and in particular technology stocks. In contrast, developing markets saw material losses as a stronger US dollar increased concerns over funding costs, especially in Argentina and Turkey, which saw their borrowing costs spike and currencies plunge. Meanwhile, rising interest rates in the US, and inflation more broadly, led to losses for holders of government bonds. Against this backdrop, the Company generated a 4.7% NAV total return over the period. This compares to a 13.8% total return from its benchmark, the FTSE World Total Return Index (in Sterling). Disappointingly, the Company share price total return was 2.2% during the period, reflecting some widening of the discount. While the NAV return is some way behind the benchmark for the period, deviations are to be expected given the very different composition of the Company's portfolio to the benchmark. The Board believes that the Company's performance should only be judged against the benchmark on a long-term basis.

Share price discount

The average share price discount to NAV was 17.8% over the period, beginning slightly narrower than this and ending slightly wider at 19.4%. While we had hoped that the Company's differentiated approach and steady NAV appreciation might lead to a tighter discount, the Board has observed that discounts have widened overall across investment trusts with emerging market, private equity and hedge fund exposure.

Dividend

The Board has declared an interim dividend of 5.00p (2017: 4.75p) in respect of the first 12 months (1 October 2017 to 30 September 2018) of the current financial year, payable on 31 January 2019. This represents a 5% increase on the dividend in respect of the prior 12-month period.

With our financial year being extended to 31 March 2019, the Board then intends to declare a final dividend, i.e. in respect of the last 6 months (1 October 2018 to 31 March 2019), in July 2019. Given the relative time periods, the final dividend, all other things being equal, is likely to be a correspondingly smaller amount than the interim dividend.

For future financial years after 31 March 2019, the Board expects to revert to declaring a single dividend in or around July after the end of each financial year. The Board will take account of any special dividends received and, barring any unforeseen circumstances, intends to maintain dividend levels or follow a progressive dividend policy when comparing equivalent 12-month periods, using accumulated revenue reserves where necessary.

The Company's shares will trade ex-dividend on 13 December 2018.

Outlook

Volatility picked up markedly in October, thereby reminding investors that markets do not just go up in a straight line. As in January this year, the correction in global stock markets was apparently precipitated by rising US government bond yields, but the sharpness and speed of the fall was surprising to many. The concurrent losses in both equities and fixed income also served as a reminder that a simple balanced portfolio of stocks and bonds may not prove as robust as it has in recent years defined by falling interest rates and quantitative easing. With the US Federal Reserve continuing to raise interest rates and to shrink its balance sheet and the European Central Bank also looking to shift to a less accommodative monetary policy, we can expect uncertain times ahead for mainstream assets. With this in mind, the Board continues to believe that the Company's mandate to invest in alternative and specialist assets and strategies is an attractive one for investors looking to diversify away from more traditional investments.

FUND MANAGERS' REPORT

Performance

Market returns in the period under review and immediately following the period in October have aptly illustrated how different our portfolio is to the benchmark. The NAV return of 4.7% versus 13.8% from the benchmark over the period at first glance appears a little underwhelming but is readily understandable given the narrow focus of the market moves, driven by a relatively small group of US equities. The purpose of HAST is to provide investors with something they do not already own elsewhere in their portfolios. This differentiated set of investments enabled us to perform relatively well and retain value in what turned out to be a fairly chastening episode for mainstream markets.

While the small widening in the discount over the period appears to be general noise around the three-year average discount of around 17%, we remain committed to bringing the Company's share price structurally closer to NAV. We believe the most effective ways to achieve this are: ongoing NAV growth, even in challenging markets; active marketing and communication with shareholders; enhanced holdings disclosure; and improved portfolio liquidity.

Performance contribution

Positive performance came from a number of themes and idiosyncratic stories. Our healthcare and biotech equity funds made attractive returns, while property funds focused on Germany and Cuba made decent gains. Our listed private equity assets continued to perform well, underpinned by robust underlying NAV returns, while our distressed debt holdings made more progress towards a full realisation of their portfolios. Meanwhile, Mantra Secondary Opportunities underwent a significant valuation uplift and property developer and REIT manager Sigma Capital Group PLC gained strongly as earnings grew rapidly.

On the negative side, our emerging markets exposure was the biggest drag on returns. Losses were experienced on the equity side, via the KLS Sloane Robinson Emerging Markets Fund, and on the debt side, through the Ashmore SICAV Emerging Markets Local Currency Fund. The Schroder GAIA Indus PacifiChoice Asia Fund also struggled owing to concerns over trade wars centering on Asian supply chains. On a stock-specific basis, Eurovestech was marked down by roughly a third as a handful of shares were traded at an extremely large discount to the latest NAV. Listed US private equity firm Safeguard Scientifics Inc gave back recent gains as its realisation process got off to a disappointing start.

Portfolio activity

Generally speaking, we continued to position the portfolio more defensively. Our view at the outset of the year was that markets had come a long way, valuations looked stretched and the tailwinds of synchronous global growth, low inflation and ultra-easy monetary policy were likely to fade. There was little turnover in names among our core holdings but the emphasis was placed on trimming the winners and backing the laggards that we expect to do well in more volatile markets, either in relative or absolute terms.

The largest new holding, the Bank of America Merrill Lynch Commodities Strategy, represented 4.3% of NAV at investment. This commodities strategy is market-neutral strategy with returns which are not normally dependent on commodity prices appreciating (or depreciating). It is a purely systematic approach which makes returns from various inefficiencies or 'risk premia' in commodity futures markets. It is a strategy with which we are very familiar and which has generated attractive annualised returns over an extended period, with relatively low volatility and minimal correlation to equities, bonds or commodities themselves.

We also took part in a placing for listed UK warehouse fund Urban Logistics REIT PLC. This is a clear structural growth story with the exponential rise in online retail and, although a fairly well understood theme, we think that its highly experienced manager has the wherewithal to continue to generate within its chosen niche double-digit returns over the next few years from keener pricing and good asset management.

HENDERSON ALTERNATIVE STRATEGIES TRUST PLC
Unaudited Results for the Six-Month Period Ended 30 September 2018

The final 'new' addition was, in reality a re-investment in the Ashmore SICAV Emerging Markets Short Duration Fund. The troubles in emerging markets are widely known, and largely confined to Argentina and Turkey, but sentiment has turned very negative across the asset class and this is usually the time to give managers such as Ashmore capital to allocate where it sees interesting opportunities emerge. We also topped up the Ashmore SICAV Emerging Markets Local Currency Fund. On a longer-term view, we expect to make attractive returns.

Since the beginning of April we also topped up Safeguard Scientifics Inc and the Axiom European Financial Debt Fund Ltd. Safeguard investors have reacted negatively to the first tranche of exits in the company's wind-up plans but we see significant value ahead, while Italian political risk has created some very interesting opportunities in European financial bonds. Axiom raised new capital with which to exploit this. Finally, Mantra Secondary Opportunities and Renewable Energy And Infrastructure Fund II made further capital calls.

In terms of exits, we sold EF Realisation Co Ltd after a very strong run. We knew we might be foregoing some gains when we sold but this was an illiquid holding and there was a material risk that we would end up with an in specie transfer of the holdings in the fund as it neared its wind-up date. 3i Infrastructure PLC, part of our tactical trade in UK infrastructure names, was sold having generated a return of around 12% in just four months. The other full exit was from Blackstone GSO Loan Financing Ltd. This was part of a more general de-risking, where we have reduced exposure to assets and strategies that are more sensitive to investor sentiment, such as structured credit and listed private equity. Meanwhile, we trimmed Baring Vostok, Blackrock European Hedge Fund and Biotech Growth Trust, taking profits and managing position sizes.

CEIBA Investments Ltd

Since the period end, in October, our Cuban property fund (5.6% of NAV), CEIBA, listed on the Specialist Fund Segment of the Main Market of the London Stock Exchange. It managed to attract £30m of new capital and listed with a market capitalisation of c£137m. These fresh funds will allow CEIBA to undertake some new development and increase the potential returns of the portfolio at a time when Cuba is opening up to foreign investment. The re-listing of CEIBA validates our policy of treating each investment on its own merits and not undertaking a fire sale after taking on the mandate. Under the aegis of a well-respected emerging markets investor such as Aberdeen Standard, we expect CEIBA to go from strength to strength as a listed vehicle. Importantly for the Company, this means that the overall liquidity profile improves and this can have an impact on our rating. This brings the 'Unlisted – without redemption rights' down from 18% to 12% post period end.

Portfolio classifications

As part of our drive to improve the transparency and clarity of the portfolio, we have decided to re-classify our portfolio holdings. By grouping our investments by commonly understood asset classes, we believe that investors will get a better sense of what is in the portfolio and its key drivers and sensitivities. Some classifications will remain the same, such as Private Equity, Hedge Funds and Property. We now also include Commodities, Public Equity and Credit, while jettisoning the less helpful categories of Specialist Sector and Specialist Geography.

While Public Equity and Credit are not alternative asset classes, the composition of our investments in these sectors will vary greatly from traditional allocations to equities and bonds. Here our focus is on niche strategies and sectors, often managed by dedicated specialists, or in more tactical areas of the broader market, where we see particular value and/or a catalyst. These investments are, however, equities and bonds and it is important to describe them as such to enable investors to understand our portfolio's sensitivity to key factors such as earnings growth, market multiples, credit spreads and interest rates.

This does not impact any of our portfolio maximum limits, which remain in place at: 35% in Private Equity; 30% in Hedge Funds; 20% in Property or any other sector; and 50% in Emerging Markets.

Outlook

The period after the end of this six-month review saw risk aversion spike. An uptick in market volatility is not necessarily a bad thing for this Company's strategy. While we may see a lot of red on our screens, we also see a lot of opportunity. So too do the underlying managers to whom we allocate capital. This is particularly evident in the Hedge Funds sleeve, where managers run unconstrained mandates and can nimbly increase and decrease risk levels as well as their sizing of holdings in individual stocks. At the other end of the spectrum our Private Equity managers have the luxury of looking through the noise of daily market volatility and focusing on generating attractive long-term returns. Our flexibility to blend assets and strategies with different return drivers and sensitivities allows us to build a robust portfolio. We believe these characteristics will appeal increasingly to new and existing investors as monetary policy becomes less accommodative globally and there is increased uncertainty as to how long this economic cycle will last.

NOTES

The accompanying Notes are an integral part of the condensed financial statements.

1. Accounting Policies

The condensed financial statements have been prepared in accordance with FRS 104 Interim Financial Reporting, issued in March 2015, the revised reporting standard for half-year reporting that was issued following the introduction of FRS 102, the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland, which is effective for periods commencing on or after 1 January 2015. The "Statement of Recommended Practice: Financial Statements of Investment Trust Companies and Venture Capital Trusts", in accordance with which the Company's financial statements are also prepared, was updated by the Association of Investment Companies in November 2014 and February 2018 with consequential amendments.

The condensed set of financial statements has been neither audited nor reviewed by the Company's auditors.

As previously announced, the Company has changed its year-end from 30 September to 31 March, with the first period of this new reporting cycle being the 18-month period to 31 March 2019. Accordingly, the next financial statements to be produced will be for the year ended 31 March 2019.

2. Expenses and Management Fees

Henderson Investment Funds Limited ('Henderson') received a management fee of 0.60% per annum on the first £250,000,000 of net chargeable assets and 0.55% per annum, in excess thereof, payable quarterly in arrears based on the level of net chargeable assets at the relevant quarter end. Prior to 1 April 2018, the rate was 0.70% per annum, payable quarterly in arrears based on the level of net chargeable assets at the relevant quarter end.

With effect from 1 October 2017, investment management fees and finance costs were allocated 80% to capital and 20% to revenue. Fees had previously been allocated 90% to capital and 10% to revenue. This change reflects the Company's revised view of the appropriate long-term revenue/capital allocation.

8. Investments Held at Fair Value Through Profit or Loss

The table below analyses fair value measurements for investments held at fair value through profit or loss. These fair value measurements are categorised into different levels in the fair value hierarchy based on valuation techniques used and are defined as follows:

Level 1: reflects financial instruments quoted in active markets.

Level 2: reflects financial instruments whose fair value is evidenced by comparison with other observable current market transactions in the same instrument or based on a valuation technique of which variables include only data from observable markets. These are principally investments in funds with redemption rights, where the price is based on valuations provided by the fund's administrator, or CFDs, where the price is based on the underlying quoted investment price.

Level 3: reflects financial instruments that trade in markets that are not considered to be active but are valued based on fund administrator prices, dealer quotations or alternative pricing sources supported by unobservable inputs. These include monthly priced funds and quarterly priced limited partnerships.

The Company's application of these levels is explained in the Company's Annual Report for the year ended 30 September 2017.

The valuation techniques used by the Company are explained in the accounting policies note in the Company's Annual Report for the year ended 30 September 2017.
